 Harper told reporters these initiatives of the government differ from those of the previous Liberal government. "The way it differs from the previous government's action is we're actually doing something," he remarked, adding he was not aware of the previous government having partnerships with NCC or anyone else.
 "I was proud and honoured that the prime minister chose to make the announcement in King Township," commented Mayor Margaret Black, who was also on hand for the announcement, calling it a sign of support for all the environmental efforts being made in King. "It epitomizes what we're trying to do."

 She added she got to meet briefly with the PM, and was rather taken with him.
 "He's certainly much more down-to-earth than I expected," she remarked.
 "Actually, a very friendly person."
