Shoreline clean-up is taking place throughout Canada

What do plastic bottles, cigarette butts, MP3 players and shopping carts have in common?

They were all found on Canadian shorelines last year, contributing to land pollution and the harming of wildlife habitat.

In 2008, over 63,000 Canadians in 1,531 locations took part in the TD Great Canadian Shoreline

Cleanup. From Sept. 19 to 27, in communities across the country, participants will put on their rubber boots and gloves to clean-up harmful waste found on shorelines. Locally, clean-up efforts will take place at Innisfil Beach Park, the Holland River and Spring Creek.

Health unit wins award

The Canadian Dermatology Association announced the award winners at the President's Banquet held during the organization's 84th annual conference in Vancouver July 4. The CDA honoured seven winners in the media, industry, not-for-profit, volunteer and research categories, for excellence in the advancement of public education and the science and art of medicine and surgery related to the health of the skin, hair and nails.

The Not for Profit Public Education Award was given to the Simcoe Muskoka District Health Unit's A Hat is Where it's At pilot project, aimed at promoting sun protection awareness.
